REPORT OF THE ASHLAND DISTRICT NURSE ASSOCIATION

The District Nurse Association of Ashland presents its 1921 report with a feeling of pardonable pride in the splendid work accomplished during the year.

The many words of praise for the good work done, the gratitude so often expressed by the afflicted ones assisted, fully justifies and compensates the Association and the citizens of Ashland for the labor and money expended. The reading of the report below appended will convince even the most skeptical of the organization's utility and well placed philanthropy dispensed through its hands.

Realizing the fact that they have not been called upon this year for donations, appreciating too the splendid work done by the nurse in our midst, the public, we feel sure, will this year extend its hearty cooperation, both moral and financial, to the maintenance of our district nursing work.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT

To the School Board of Ashland Special School District:

I take pleasure in submitting, herewith, my fourth annual report as Superintendent of the schools in Ashland.

Schools opened on Tuesday, September 6, with the following enrollment, and teachers in charge:

Grade I, Rena M. Ballam, 35 pupils.

Grade II, Blanche G. Rogers, 36 pupils.

Grade III, Anna M. Holland, 31 pupils.

Grade IV, Irene G. Hall, 32 pupils.

Grade V, Zilla Rodliff, 27 pupils.

Grade VI, Jeannette Marshall, 33 pupils.

High School, Earl C. Boyd, Headmaster, Science and Mathematics.

Louisa Moulton, Languages.

Clara M. Smith, English and History.

G. Reba Cragin, Domestic Arts.

Agnes E. Hilliard, Junior High

Subjects.

Enrollment: VII 33; VIII 20; IX 16; X 8; XI 13; XII 3.

Total enrollment: Elementary 194; Junior High 53; Senior High 30.

Tuition pupils: Elementary 16; High 14.

The Junior High School

The curriculum of the Junior High School is very different from that of the same grades in years past. It has long been recognized that under the old system children of grades VII and VIII were spending a large part of their time either in reviewing subjects already covered, or in the study of subjects which might just as well be covered in the lower grades. The Junior High School has been established to give to pupils of the ages twelve to fourteen some studies entirely new, which will be useful to them if they should drop out of school, or which will lay a foundation for the continuous pursuance of those subjects in the higher years. The break in the school program comes at the proper psychological age, at the end of the sixth grade. Pupils beginning the work of the Junior High School are more likely to continue throughout the six years as there is no bridge to cross into high school at the end of the eighth grade.

Many difficulties had to be overcome in changing to the new program, the most important one of which was found in mathematics. Special emphasis had to be laid upon that subject in grades I to VI. The last two years have seen a marked improvement in the teaching of arithmetic in our schools, and results are very encouraging that pupils who pass hereafter from grade VI will have covered fully all necessary principles in arithmetic, and will be sufficiently trained to complete successfully the additional work in mathematics of grades VII and VIII. Grades VII to XII have been organized as a unit this year, and the teachers are cooperating to make it a school body worthy of attention and commendation.

Intelligence Tests

Results of tests as given in April and December, 1921, in the elementary schools, grades III to VIII:

Ages	Standard Scores	Pupils' Scores	No. of Low Grade	No. of High Grade	Average of 5,000 scores
					in Mich.	in Calif.
8	38	60		3	41	35
9	58	52	3	4	56	57
10	75	71	3	6	71	76
11	90	82	2	4	87	90
12	101	105	1	6	95	107
13	112	107	1	5	107	116
14	123	94	4	8	118	133
15		85	4		114	137

The high score of 60 for the age of eight is misleading, as pupils of that age in grade II who could not read the test were not included. The other scores are reliable. The laws of New Hampshire require school attendance until the age of sixteen if the pupil has not completed the eighth grade. These retarded pupils naturally bring down the scores for the upper years. It would seem as if we had too many of such pupils in our schools. Many of them are there because of inattention to school work in general; some are there because of indifference of parents to the regular attendance of their children in the earlier years. If special classes could be provided for some of these children it would raise the standard of our schools very much, and might be the means of awakening such pupils to a new vision of life and work.

Medical Inspection

The medical inspection of the pupils has been completed. This year results are even more encouraging than last year. Through the work of inspecting the pupils, the reports sent home to the parents, the follow-up work of the nurse and teachers, the pupils and parents are beginning to realize it is unwise to burden the growing child with defects that can be remedied. Each year sees improvement in the number of defects that have been attended to since the last inspection. The district nurse has been zealous in her work. Following the examinations she has dealt with needy cases both in the school and in the home. In addition she has responded to special calls of the teachers when pupils needed individual attention.

A beginning has been made on malnutrition cases. Pupils are being weighed each month; encouragement is being offered pupils to follow directions for gaining weight; hot noon lunches are made possible to all at cost; and one local organization is defraying the cost in several cases of need.

The Fire Escape

Last summer the fire escape was practically rebuilt. It is now strong, steady, and as safe as is possible for any fire escape to be. At fire drills the building is emptied in about one minute; with the new fire escape the safety of the children in case of fire is fully assured.

The Present Year

The school work is progressing in good form. The interest in the high school has been increased by the success of the basket ball team, and by the publication of a school paper, "The Beehive." I bespeak for both these enterprises the fullest cooperation of the citizens in general. The teachers are enthusiastic in the performance of their duties and have responded very heartily to all demands or suggestions.

In Conclusion

I am deeply indebted to you for your kind and sympathetic advice, and for the splendid cooperation you have always given me in anything undertaken for the good of the schools.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARENCE M. HARRIS, Superintendent.

The foregoing report of the superintendent is hereby approved and as required by law we herewith enumerate amounts required for payment on outstanding notes and interest for the coming year:

For payment of district note	$1,000.00
For payment of interest	200.00
